Operation Hungry Tummy

Many of our clients own pets and on numerous occasions I hear the level of concern that owners have for their animals. Although many of our clients were willing by choice to go without food, they somehow manage small portions of food to offer to a dog or cat. Their beloved unconditional loving pet took priority of being fed.

These are the animals that bring a glimmer of hope or security to a person when they are down. A moment of joy and a sense of stability is offered between "best friends" and often it is the motivation that is required for "care" that gets a discouraged person through another hard day.

We are compassionate volunteers that struggle to fill our shelves with adequate quantities of the best pet food available.

We will never feel the guilt of having our "can goods" meant for human consumption being fed to a starving pet rather than a hungry person. These are the times we fill "honored" to pass a bag of dry dog food along with a "healthy" meal.

Many consumers have the mind-set that food pantries or cupboards only cater to the poor and the homeless. As a Faith based ministry we operate on a very minimal budget and most of the monies spent is provided through the generosity of our own staff by offering a few dollars from their personal budgets.

How you can help is simple, just take the time to help us by adding a bag or canned food (and it doesn't stop there, bird seed, ferret food, etc..) it is at your own discretion (I am particular to dogs, cats and fish, since I am a owner of all three) and contact us for pick up.

Your donation can make a difference.

We will do our part to help reduce hunger in pets that belong to the homeless and the less fortunate and provide medical care for those pets in communities across the country.

Ask your church or workplace to bring in a donation every last Sunday or workday or get the children involved by hosting a party.

Your pet trusts you to provide them with not only the love and affection they need but also their daily nutritional requirements, routine medical care, and a positive stabilized living environment.
